NOT TO BLAME FOR BOSS CONVENTION

A local contemporary arises to remark that the Dispatch last week "outraged the finer feelings of the human heart and overstepped the bounds of decency and respect" in writing up the proceedings of the "boss" convention. The Dispatch gave a correct report of the subserviency to bossism. It was the boss convention, and not the Dispatch, that outraged the finer feelings of the rank and file of the grand old party that used to stand for the people when headed by Lincoln. And the old line Republicans are going to repudiate the professional politicians nominated by the bosses. The fault is with the Republicans for allowing such proceedings to take place in their party. Don't blame the Dispatch. We had nothing to do with the disgraceful affair, except to look on and marvel at the weakness of men that ought to have some backbone.

MAN IS ARRESTED FOR SWIPING PAPER

A Hopland man was arrested last week for petty larceny, to-wit: "Feloniously taking the "funny" section of the Sunday Chronicle, valued at five cents." The Sunday paper had been thrown at the subscriber's yard by the mail carrier, but had struck the fence and fell into the road. The alleged culprit picked up the entire paper, removed the comic section and carried it off, so it is charged. The trial is to take place tomorrow at Hopland.

Arrests Indian Suspect

Deptuy Sheriff Lee Taylor, went over to Upper Lake the first of the week and brought back an Indian, Boxer by name, who is thought to have murdered Squealing Charley last Sunday. Boxer's hat was found near the scene of the homicide and it looks as though Boxer was the fellow who committed the crime. He is not very communicative, however, but may tell something before the hearing next week. He is now boarding at hotel Gibson.

Tom Force is again clerk at the Cecille. Tom is an affable gentleman and knows how to look after the comforts of the guests.

WHAT OTHERS THINK OF IT

How the Democratic Ticket Looks to the Other Fellows

About one hundred and ten delegates attended the Democratic convention held in this city Saturday, the best of harmony prevailing throughout the session. Good men were nominated. On the whole it was one of the smoothest and best conducted conventions it has ever been our pleasure to attend.—Fort Bragg Advocate, (Rep.)

The Democratic convention's work at Fort Bragg Saturday appears to be eminently satisfactory to those of the faith in this part of the county, while the Republicans admit that the ticket is a strong one that will be hard to beat. Indeed there are Republicans here who predict that the majority of the ticket is as good as elected already.—Ukiah correspondent in Mendocino Beacon. (Rep.)

The Democratic county convention met at Fort Bragg last Saturday and placed their champions before the people. The ticket is probably as satisfactory to the party generally as any that could have been named and meets with genreal approval. The nominees for the Third district are especially popular men and meet with the approval of all parties from the township officers up. Several of the nominees are holding county offices at present and have made good records as public servants.

Robert Duncan, as district attorney, has distinguished himself as one of the very best officers the county ever had and he has the hearty endorsement of the people of all parties. The convention, considering the close contest over some of the nominations, was harmonious and apparently free from bossism, the apparent sentiment being that the best man should win. —Willits News. (Rep.)

Robert Duncan, the present efficient district attorney of Mendocino county, has been re-nominated by the Democratic county convention of that county. Mr. Duncan is an able lawyer, a fearless prosecutor, and has made a splendid record. He should be re-elceted. Mr. Duncan's candidacy is of interest in Trinity as his wife, the youngest daughter of Hon. John McMurry, was born in Weaverville.—Trinity Journal.

Mr. Inman's Candidacy

In this issue will be found the announcement of John Inman Jr., who is the regular Democratic nominee for supervisor in the Fifth district. Mr. Inman is a young man about 36 years old and has been a resident of the south coast nearly all his life, and he knows the wants of the people over there probably better than any one else in the district. He has been the deputy assessor under Mike Thomas for the past two years and has given most excellent satisfaction.

He is a farmer and has been busy for a number of seasons getting out ties. Being a working man and a taxpayer he will be careful of the funds and see that economy is practiced in all departments of county work. In Mr. Inman the people of the south coast will have a good supervisor, one who will look out and see that the county gets a square deal on road and bridge work. Being a practical bridge man he will see that no gross frauds are perpetrated on the people. He is just the kind of a man the taxpayers should have in the office and from all reports is going to make a great run for the place. Latest advices from the coast are to the effect that he will almost make a clean sweep.

"Fine Tooth Comb Committee"

It is rumored that the "Fine Tooth Comb" committee will soon be called on to do some more hard tragedy in hunting up some more that are "willin'." Say, boys, come in out of the wet and be decent, and endorse the whole Democratic ticket. They are all sure winners anyhow.

NOTED INDIAN IS MURDERED

"Squealing Charley" at Last Succumbs to Enemy's Attacks

Charley Brown, generally known as "Squealing Charley," was found dead last Monday morning near the Howard crossing to the railroad track. He had been killed some time during the evening before by parties unknown. From the gashes in his head it was first thought that the train had run over him but a closer investigation proved that he had been murdered. He had evidently been attacked near the track and hit with an ax so that an accident might be thought to be the cause of death. The remains of the big Chief of the Yokayos was brought to town Monday morning and the coroner's inquest was held in the evening. The verdict was that the deceased had come to his death by the hands of a party or parties unknown. The remains were taken to the Indian burial ground for interment Tuesday evening and were attended by all the fantastic rites of the Yokayos.

Charley Brown, familiarly known as "Squealing Charley," has at last taken the trail to the happy hunting grounds. His spirit now dwells with the shades of his forefathers. No more will the Yokayos tremble at his presence—no more will the pale faces see him on their streets, for "Squealing" has departed from this vale of tears—"Lo, the poor Indian is dead, and Charley is a good Indian now.

"Squealing" so called by reason of the peculiar tone of his voice, was a well known character in the valley. His age was not known but many of the old residents claim that forty years ago he was in the prime of manhood. He was of commanding statue—being over six feet in height, and weighing about 300 pounds, and possessing extraordinary strength and endurance. He laid claim to be the Chief of the Yokayos, and by reason of the fear that his tribal members had of him his contention was not disputed. He was a noted orator and was not loath to thus display his ability.

Many are the tales that are told of his exploits, his lawlessness, his strength and powers of endurance, and they are vouched for by the old residents. When the government established the military post at Round valley in 1860 Charley Brown was employed as a runner to carry messages to the coast and to the authorities in Sonoma county. In those days he was at his best, a typical speciman of manhood—tall, rawboned, a natural athlete. It is said he would travel 50 miles during daylight throuhg the then wild, unbroken country, following the Indian trails. Even in those days his fame as a footracer and a dangerous man was heralded far and wide. He located in this valley in about 1870, and it was in that year that he was matched in a footrace with a professional runner, W. Cramer, a white man. The course for the race was laid on State street in this city from the front of the old Ukiah House down to where the Japanese laundry now stands. "Squealing" was in the lead when he turned his head to see where his challenger was, and he stumbled and fell and lost the race.

Charley loved the spectacular. He reveled in the gaze of the sightseer. He often posed before the camera arrayed in fantastic costume. He was engaged by several Wild West shows as a star; was the center of attraction in a side show at the Mid-Winter Fair in San Francisco as a wild man heavily chained in a cage. He always was the principal dancer at the Indian fandangoes. He accompanied the local parlor of N. S. G. W. to San Francisco to participate as standard bearer in a big parade on September 9th and attracted much attention, being arrayed in the full war costume of a Sioux Indian, hired for the occasion.

The life of the subject of this sketch was a stormy one. Of late years he was a hard drinker of the white man's fire-water, and when in his cups was very dangerous—greatly feared by the Indians, though he never molested the whites. The Ukiah Indians have on many occasions sought revenge on him while he was under the influence of liquor. Five different times in the last fifteen years has he been reported dead, but he always turned up again looking for trouble and more whiskey. Once while visiting the Lake county Indians he started a fight and his hosts cut him with knives until he was left for dead, and they threw his body into Clear Lake, but next day he was back hunting a doctor. In a fight in this valley he was disemboweled and walked two miles to have a physican attend to his wounds. Another time his throat was cut very deep. It is said that he had to hold his head on until he reached a doctor. Knives failing to make him a good Indian, the red men gave him a bottle of whiskey filled with ground glass, which he disposed of—he was not unconvenienced much by this.

About eight years ago he was on a big drunk near Guidiville when he fell into a fire, too drunk to move, and his companions refused to touch him. His left side was badly burned and he laid on the ground for ten days before found by white men. Physicians said he never would get well, but his wonderful constitution came to his aid again, and "Squealing" was abroad in the land once more. Old age, too much whiskey, and an axe in the hands of stalwart braves, have at last accomplished what knives, water, glass and fire failed to do. Charley Brown has gone the way of all good Indians. He is dead.

JOYCE CROWDS HIS OPPONENT OFF TICKET

Last week in printing the names of the Republican nominees for the various county offices our devil inadvertently "set up" the name of J. A. Joyce as the Republican nominee for auditor. Mr. Joyce is the Democratic nomniee for that position and his name appeared in the list of Democratic nominees the week before. But our devil had heard that the Republicans had endorsed Pro. Babcock and that the "Fine Tooth Comb committee" had given up hope of getting enough names to fill out the ticket and naturally thought that the rest of the ticket had been endorsed, and put down Mr. Joyce as the nominee. In fact our devil wanted to know why in the devil the Republicans wanted to nominate anybody agaist the Democratic ticket for anyhow. He thought they might save expenses by endorsing the entire ticket, and incidentally add to their own renown. So how the error crept in is now fully explained. When the votes are counted in November everybody will think that Mr. Joyce was endorsed in reality, as he should have been.

EIGHTEEN CENTS OFFERED FOR HOPS

Refusals were being asked of hop growers until tomorrow (Thursday) evening at twenty cents for their coming crop in this city Wednesday, and there have been no takers so far as reported. Some growers are seriously considering this matter of refusal, and there may be some contracts made at that figure within the next few days.

Eighteen cents was being offered Wednesday and no sales were reported at that figure. There is no improvement in the former reported condition of the English hops, and this is helping the prices locally.—Santa Rosa Republican, August 15th.

After Covelo Murderers

C. C. Tony, deputy sheriff, and District Attorney Duncan returned from Covelo Wednesday noon. While up there Mr. Toney joined in the chase after Hog Simmons but got sick and returned to town the second day. The district attorney left yesterday for Covelo after securing a court reporter from Santa Rosa who will go up Sunday. The prelimicary hearing will take place next Tuesday.

BOY WOULD KILL WOMAN

Desperate Hopland Youth Tries to Shoot Mrs. Barker

Harry Overall, a fifteen year old Hopland youth, was arrested last Friday on a charge of attempted assault with a deadly weapon, and at his preliminary examination Monday he was bound over. The lad attempted to shoot Mrs. Henry Barker with a Winchetser rifle, and but for prompt work in getting the lady out of sight he would most likely have carried out his intentions.

Young Overall was sent out by a San Francisco orphan's aid society and he has been making his home with the Barkers for several months. He has given them considerable trouble, which culminated Friday in his gathering up his clothes and announcing his intention of leaving. Mrs. Barker persuaded him to go with her to the slaughter house and talk the matter over with Eugene Guiraud and two other men who were there, hoping they could induce him to change his mind. While there Mrs. Barker thrashed the boy for some offense, using a shingle. He at once started for the house, asserting that he would get even.

At the house he secured the rifle and four cartridges—afterwards asserting that he had one for each of his intended victims—and returned to the slaughter house. The men, seeing him approaching with the gun, hurried Mrs. Barker out at the back door, over a hill and back to the house, carefully keeping her out of sight of the youthful desperado.

At the slaughter house Guiraud tried to take the gun away from the boy, but he was warned back under threat of instant death. Guiraud then tried by ruse and persuasion to get hold of the weapon, but the boy was not to be caught in that manner, and finally he took his departure for the hills, where he hid his gun and then returned to the Barker home. The constable, armed with a warrant, soon rounded him up and brought him to Ukiah, where he was lodged in jail until Monday.

His preliminary examination took place at Hopland, the people being represented by J. C. Ruddock, District Attorney Duncan being in Round valley on business. At the time of the examination he contended that he would have used the gun had he had opportunity to have done so. He is now in jail awaiting trial.

Arouses No Enthusiasm

The Boss ticket nominated by the Republican push last week is not receiving a very enthusiastic support from the good old time Republicans. In speaking of the convention the Little Lake Herald says: "The program had not been perfectly arranged—but it was pretty good as far as it went, and it went a little farther than any other convention ever went in the county. It had the committees on credentials, order of business, and resolutions appointed the day before the convention met, and while they had the decency to wait a few minutes before they reported to the "chairman", they performed their little stunt of trying to fool the people with commendable zeal, and with an innocence that would have made Black Bart look like 30 cents.

Those securing nominations under the name of Republicans and through the influence of men without principle or party may expect to get gloriously defeated, for no honest man, much less Republican, could support such chicanery."

May Resume Operations

Senator Felton, W. W. VanArsdale and W. P. Thomas, the principal stock holders in the Snow Mountain Power company, went to Eel river early this week and have spent several days there looking over the situation relative to renewing work on the enterprise. All the work except that on the power house has been suspended since the San Francisco fire. The chances are that work will now be resumed in the near future and rushed to a successful conclusion.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

How to Play Hop Over, a Jolly, Jumping Outdoor Game.

It is said a person must be "awfully old" not to enjoy this game.

Stand all the players in a ring, about two feet apart, except one player, who must stand in the center. He must hold one end of a long, strong string. To the other end tie a book or any other article of similar shape and weight, wrapped up in paper.

Now the player in the center must whirl the parcel around and around the circle on the floor. The game is that any one whose feet are touched by the parcel or the string must be "it" and take his place in the center. Consequently, in order to escape this awful penalty, every player must jump over the parcel or string whenever it comes around his way.

Of course the book is whirled around faster and faster every time, so you can imagine the lively jumping that goes on. And woe to the slow one! For it is likely that the string or parcel will not merely touch his feet, but wind round and round his ankles, making him a hopeless prisoner.

Try this game, boys and girls. It is a jolly one for out of doors.

Game of Fly Feather.

This is an old English amusement, described by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, which affords lots of fun. The players put their chairs together to form a close circle. A small downy feather with a very short stem is procured and thrown as high as possible in the air. It is then blown, the object of each player being not to be touched by it. The person it falls upon pays a forfeit, and this is redeemed at the end of the game.

It must not be blown too violently or it will fly so high that it will be difficult to reach, and the one who blows it outside the circle must also pay a forfeit.

When children play it they usually prefer to dance around in pursuit of it, but they must not let go each other's hands to catch it in its descent. The player who goes through three rounds without being touched wins the game.

Domestic Finance.

Music is the prophecy of what life is to be, the rainbow of promise translated out of seeing into hearing.—Mrs. L. M. Child.

TELESCOPES.

The Difference Between Reflecting and Refracting Kinds.

A very pretty little experiment which illustrates the two methods of forming an optical image and by way of corollary illustrates the essential difference between refracting and reflecting telescopes may be performed by any one who possesses a reading glass and a magnifying hand mirror. In a room that is not too brightly illuminated pin a sheet of white paper on the wall opposite to a window that by preference should face the north or away from the position of the sun. Taking first the reading glass, hold it between the window and the wall parallel to the sheet of paper and a foot or more distant from the latter. By moving it to and fro a little you will be able to find a distance corresponding to the focal length of the lens, at which a picture of the window is formed on the paper. This picture, or image, will be upside down because the rays of light cross at the focus. By moving the glass a little closer to the wall you will cause the picture of the window to become indistinct, while a beautiful image of the houses, trees or other objects of the outdoor world beyond will be formed upon the paper. We thus learn that the distance of the image from the lens varies with the distance of the object whose image is formed. In precisely a similar manner an image is formed at the focus of the object glass of a refracting telescope.

Take next your magnifying or concave mirror, and, detaching the sheet of paper from the wall, hold it nearly in front of the mirror between the latter and the window. When you have adjusted the distance to the focal length of the mirror, you will see an image of the window projected on the paper. By varying the distance as before you will be able to produce at will pictures of nearer or more remote objects. It is in this way that images are formed at the focus of the mirror of a reflecting telescope.

SUBMERGED GUNS.

The Experiment of Firing a Cannon Buried Under Water.

The most curious experiment ever made with a piece of ordnance was at Portsmouth, England. A stage was erected in the harbor within the tide mark. On this an Armstrong gun of the 110 pound pattern was mounted. The gun was then loaded and carefully aimed at a target—all this, of course during the time of low tide. A few hours later, when the gun and the target were both covered with water to a depth of six feet, the gun was fired by means of electricity. We said "aimed at a target," but the facts are that there were two targets, but only one was erected for this special experiment, the other being the hull of an old vessel, the Griper, which lay directly behind the target and in range of the ball. The target itself was placed only twenty-five feet from the muzzle of the gun. It was composed of oak beams and planks and was twenty-one inches thick.

NORTHERN MENDOCINO

Covelo, August 15.—Further evidence in the Frei murder case has developed. The party that killed Frei knew of his habits and was familiar with the country and is thought to be Hiram Simmons, familiarly known as Hog Simmons, on account of a strong chain of circumstantial evidence that points to him.

Simmons is a neighbor and is the only enemy Frie had. He also has the reputation of being a bad man and this is not his first offense. He had made a number of threats against Frei and several other neighbors and said he would kill them. Frei had trouble with him about hog stealing.

At the time of the murder Frei was walking down the trail leading his pack animals and the first bullet entered his chest just above the left nipple, cut the juglar vein and windpipe, broke the collar bone and was deflected downward and broke the third rib, entered the arm and lodged. This was extracted and found to be flattened. The second shot was fired after he fell to the ground and entered just below the left eye went through his body and came out on the right side just above his hip. This bullet spent its force and laid on his shirt.

The bullets were 30-30 Winchester and an empty cartridge was found on the spot. Either shot was fatal and his death must have been instantaneous as he still held the rope of the pack animal in his death grip. There were a great many foot prints at the spot the size and shape of which were carefully noted for future reference. Two horses had been tied near where the tragedy occurred and these were traced for quite a distance by Will Kelley, Henry Bucknell and Lem Sallady but they lost the tracks at a piont where a flock of sheep had crossed and could not pick them up again.

Constable Robt. Redwine, Deputy D. A. Jamison and all of the available men in the country began the first day to scour the hills and they were joined on Friday by Deputy Sheriff Cal Tony and District Attorney Robt. Duncan of Ukiah. Simmons was seen at his home Saturday night but escaped before they could capture him.

About the first of the month he came to town with a stranger from Chico named Fred Richardson, a relative and bad citizen, and they purchased a box of 30-30 Winchester cartridges from Harry Shutler.

Later—Monday afternoon a sheriff's posse consisting of Robt. Redwine, Lem Sallady, Ed Purcell and James Hastings brought Simmons and Richardson to town. They were captured at Mule Flat, twenty miles northeast of Covelo, while drying venison. They did not make any resistance. The footprints and hoofmarks are said to correspond with those found at the scene of the tragedy. District Attorney Duncan put Richardson through a sweating but could not get any damaging evidence, so we have been informed.

The preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday next, as it will take several days to get all of the witnesses here. District Attorney Duncan returned to Ukiah to get a shorthand reporter but will return here the last of this week to look up further evidence.

A Warning to Mothers

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give old-fashioned caster oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipiency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of and bowel trouble appears.

This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by J. R. Mathews Pharmacy.

NORTH COAST NEWS BUDGET

Fort Bragg, August 14.—Charles Aulin, an old pioneer of this place, has passed to his reward at the age of 49 years. He was one of the first settlers at this place and made many friends. He built the first hotel in town. His death is generally regretted.

George Freitas, the night sawyer in the Glen Blair mill, fell and broke a rib last week and is laid up for repairs. It seems that George has his share of bad luck.

Mrs. Antone Silva presented her husband with a son last week.

James Brett has taken charge of the mechanical department of the Greenwood mill. Sam McCanse is now the superintendent and things are again running smoothly under Mr. Brett.

The local aerie of Eagles are planning for a big picnic on the Noyo river two miles above Alpine next Saturday. A special train will be run to the grounds and a big time is anticipated. A progam of athletic sports has been arranged and prizes given to the successful ones. The aerie has been doing well and has a large membership.

A new corporation to engage in general shipping business has been formed on the coast. The incorporators are Robert Dollar, James Tyson, F. M. Fenwick, Miles Standish, C. J. Dodge and C. R. Johnson.

Some little politics are being talked along the coast. The Democrats have the best of it by far. The talk of the "bosses" about the valley ticket will avail them nothing. The coast only got such nominations on the boss ticket that there was no chance to win. I guess the bosses have been laughing at the coast suckers that accepted such a chance! Think of it. What chance has any one against Bob Duncan? That was given to the coast because no valley boss would go up against a stone wall. On the other hand we coast taxpayers don't care where a man comes from so long as he is free from bossism.

The coast is going to line up behind Barbee for clerk, however, and he is going to win. His opponent is a good fellow but he has become wealthy off the taxpayers in the last twenty years and we think that it is time to give a young man a chance. So the coast says "here's to Barbee."

NEWSY ITEMS FROM WILLITS

Willits, August 13.—Congressmen McKinlay, Dalzell and Gilbert were here last week and given a reception at Hotel Willits in the evening. Dunk recognizes the fact that he has a fight on his hands and is getting all the outside help he can. He certainly needs it as he will have little inside help outside of the old maid clubs.

Jim Joyce and Tom Saxon are going to be the strong men up this way. They have already begun a systematic campaign and will leave no stone unturned to win the fight.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Moore entertained a party of young friends in honor of the fifteenth anniversary of their son Walter. A most enjoyable time was had.

Walter Houx, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Houx, died on the 9th inst. at the age of 16 years. He was a splendid young man and his death is much regretted by the entire community.

Miss Eva Ellis was here last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Irvine. She was formerly a resident of this city and was heartily welcomed by old time friends. Since leaving here years ago Miss Ellis has traveled in Europe, the Hawaaian Islands, and the southern part of the United States. She has a position now in Mills seminary.

Prof. P. B. Westerman and wife were here last week on a visit to Mr. Westerman's mother.

Frank Smith, a former Little Laker, who now lives in Nevada, arrived in our midst last week on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith. His wife and family will accompany him upon his return.

The home of P. I. Lancaster was made happy last week by the arrival of a fine boy. P. I. now steps high.

POINT ARENA AND VICINITY

Point Arena, August 13.—The past week has been a very quiet one so far as news is concerned. A little ripple of excitement was caused last week by the arrival of Wm. Randolph Hearst and party in town. They stayed over night and proceeded on their journey next day.

Another automobile party was in town—John H. Speck et al. They certainly were the limit when it came to speeding.

The funeral of Mrs. Augusta M. Severance was held here last week, the remains having been brought here for interment.

A sad accident occurred at the McNamee bark camp last week in which C. R. Patton was killed. He and Ed Pound were working together felling an oak. In falling the tree lodged against two small ones, one of which broke causing the tree to rebound. In rebounding the tree caught Mr. Patton and pinned him to the earth. Mr. Pound extricated his companion and notified the camp crew and a physician was summoned, but too late as paralysis had set in, from which the injured man died. Mr. Patton was well known on the coast and leaves many friends to regret his departure. He has two sisters, Mrs. Mary P. Price, of Woodland, and Mrs. S. E. Moore, of Oakland, and one brother, Oscar T. Patton.

Another sad accident occured last week in which James T. Smith lost his life an account of which has already appeared in your paper.

Mrs. Mary P. Price was here from Woodland last week to attend the funeral of her brother C. R. Patton. Mrs. Price was one of our popular teachers in the public school here some years ago and was warmly greeted by many friends.

E. B. Salsig and Frank O'Brien were here last week examining the ruins of the company's store with a view of rebuilding again on the lot.

The Foresters of Gualala are preparing for a big dance on the 18th inst. A number of people from here will undoubtedly attend as Gualala always does things up in the right style.

Library Notes

Two weeks have passed since the opening of the library and during that time 90 books have been drawn and over 200 people have been in attendance. This is a very good showing considering that it is midsummer and a time when most of our community are more less migrating. Some one has predicted that our library will do a land-office business when winter sets in.

The Santa Cruz library very kindly sent a gift of four popular books of which they had a few duplicates—David Harum, Eben Holden, When Knighthood was in Flower, and To Have and to Hold. Mrs. Celia Lobree has donated The Mississippi Bubble and Blennerhasset. The latter is a companion to Gertrude Atherton's The Conqueror; the one having Alexander Hamilton for its hero, the other Aaron Burr.

MIDDLE COAST HAPPENINGS

Mendocino, August 13.—Every thing is very quiet on the coast now and our people are taking advantage of the open season and are out in the high brush after deer. Some fine old bucks have been secured. A number of valley people are over this way on a camping trip and enjoying the coast climate.

Rev. Knox Boude and family who have been in this vicinity for some time have departed for the valley. The Rev. gentleman organized a Sunday school at Caspar.

Miss Grace Jarvis, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Jarvis of this city, was united in marriage on the 8th inst. to Dr. Clarence J. Frederick, Rev J. W. Hough performing the ceremony. About 60 guests witnessed the interesting ceremony.

The hop crop in this valley is the heaviest this year that has ever been in the history of the county. In a number of fields the vines have been so heavy as to break the poles and twine. As a consequence a number of hands are out in the various fields trying to drive the poles and thus keep the hops off the ground.

H. B. Smith had the misfortune to lose his fine trotting mare May Ayers last Saturday. The animal burst a blood vessel and died of hemorrhage. She was a splendid trotter, making quite a record on the local track every year. Mr. Smith has two colts from May Ayers that promise to make good on the track in the near future.

Dr. A. L. Gibson, Fred Chalfant and several others leave next Sunday for Eden valley where they will spend two weeks trying to kill a fine old buck or two. The Doctor is a fine shot and has nine fat old buck staked out in a little swale and will limp out some morning and kill them all without ever taking the muzzle loader from his shoulder.

Many of our townspeople are out in the hills enjoying an outing, among them being Judge White who is rusticating at Bell springs. The report that he was in poor health is not true. He is in the best condition he has been for a year and is enjoying the high altitude very much. He has already killed the limit, as far as deer are concerned.

H. J. Randall has returned from a surveying trip to Westport, Hardy and the north coast, and he says that the Democratic ticket is running strong up that way. The coast is for the best men, who are on the Democratic ticket, and against the machinations of the bosses.

W. F. Fuller and wife arrived in town this week from Fort Bragg and will spend a few days here and then go on to the city for a short vacation. They were accompanied here by Miss Blanch Willis and Miss Maud Cummings who will enter Mrs. Porterfield's normal school.

SIXTEEN CENTS NOW OFFERED

Hops Still going Upward, but Very Slowly

Sixteen cents was offered for hops Friday evening and the market has been strong at fifteen cents for many days past. Few, if any hops are changing hands at the present time and practically no contracts are being made. The growers who have hops in their possession are hopeful of a further rise in the market and are content to hold. No sales have been reported at the offer of sixteen cents.

Latest estimates from reliable growers of the county place the crop at about 31,000 bales. This will be a decided increase over the previous year. This is accounted for principally by the fact that there is a better yield of hops this season.

Picking will soon commence. Dr. J. W. Clark will begin Wednesday or Thursday to pick some "fuggles" hops which grow on his place. These are a different species of hop from the cluster. Within a week or ten days many yards all over the county will be picking.

The directors of the Sonoma County Hop Growers Exchange will meet in this city next Saturday for the transaction of business.—Santa Rosa Press Democrat.

EAGLES ENJOY BIG BARBECUE

The Eagles had an old time barbecue at Clark's grove last evening and some five hundred members and friends of the order attended. A beef, three sheep and several hogs were barbecued in great style and was very delicious. Crowds from town began to arrive at 8 o'clock and soon everything was in readiness for the big feed. The grove was artistically decorated with lighted chinese lanterns and near the dancing platform the American flag was draped and above it were the magic words F. O. E. The band discoursed good music and dancing was indulged in after supper. The barbecue reminded one of a regular old time fourth of July celebration and was a credit to the order.

The church has recently been enlarged and fitted up in metropolitan style, and is now one of the most imposing edifices in town. The congregation and Rev. W. B. Burton are to be congratulated upon the success they have made in the past year. The pastorate of Rev. Burton has been eminently satisfactory during the year and it is hoped by all that the conference will return him to Ukiah.

Nominees of the various political parties desiring to give wide publicity to their candidacy should place their announcements in the Dispatch, as it is the most widely read paper in the county. The Dispatch has a paid circulation of over 1600 subscribers —over twice that of any other paper in the county, and is read in every precinct in the county.

How General Butler Lost a Horse.

While in front of Petersburg General Butler received information that his favorite horse, Almond Eye, had been accidentally killed by falling into a ravine. Upon the departure of his informant he ordered an Irish servant to go and skin him.

"What, is Almond Eye dead?" asked Pat.

"What's that to you? Do as I bid you and ask no questions."

Pat went about his business and in an hour or two returned.

"Well, Pat, where have you been all this time?" sternly demanded the general.

"Skinning the horse, yer honor."

"Does it take nearly two hours to perform such an operation?"

"No, yer honor, but then, you see, it tuck bout half an hour to catch him," replied Pat.

General Butler cast upon his servant such a ferocious look that Pat thought he meditated skinning an Irishman in revenge for the death of his horse.

Value of Butterflies.

When our juniors see the common white cabbage and sulphur wing butterflies or even the superb Monarch and gorgeous Ajax swallowtails flitting through the fields or at times city streets they perhaps never give thought to the fact that butterflies may be of commercial value. But such is the case. Some of our domestic butterflies on account of rarity more than beauty command prices from one to several dollars, which collectors gladly pay to insure the completeness of their cabinets. Big prices are paid for some of the magnificent butterflies of the morpho and papilio genera, which are rainbow hued in colors and span five feet in wings. These flourish in tropical countries, and it is often necessary for museums to send out special expeditions for them. They range from $10 to $100 in value.—Baltimore Herald.

Haddock Marks.

Why do haddocks carry those peculiar black "finger marks" near the head? Some tell us that they are a memento of the pressure of St. Peter's fingers when he went fishing for the tribute money. On the Yorkshire coast of England they say the devil once determined to build a bridge at Filey. His Satanic majesty did not start the bridge for the convenience of the people, but for the destruction of ships and sailors and the annoyance of fishermen in general. In the progress of his work Old Nick dropped his hammer into the sea. Snatching at it hastily, he caught a haddock, and all haddocks carry the imprint of his black fingers to this day.

Conceit.

Conceit is essential to rapid advancement—not overconceit, but conceit in reasonable volume. The conceit of youth becomes the assurance of old age. If you're master of your conceit you have back of you a slave of unlimited assistance. If conceit is your master, you're doomed to failure. But don't cultivate self conceit. It's a lusty plant. Give it half a chance and it will outgrow your self respect.—N. C. Fowler, Jr., in "Ganglion."

The Right of Way.

In the early days of western railway building, days not so long gone by as to be out of memory, there were many exciting races between rival roads for the possession of important mountain passes. Such a race, says the World's Work, was that between the Santa Fe and the Rio Grande roads for the right of way through Raton pass to New Mexico and the southwest.

Engineers and construction gangs worked in mad haste to get to it ahead of their rivals. The victory fell to the chief of the Santa Fe. When the Rio Grande cohorts arrived they found him alone in one of the big gorges, shovel in hand, slicing earth from an 8,000 foot hill.

"What are you doing here?" they asked.

"Constructing a railroad," he replied. He turned another shovelful of dirt, dropped the tool and hitched up his heavy cartridge belt.

"Any one who interferes with the Santa Fe does it at his own risk," he said quietly.

First the Rio Grande men laughed and then they raged, and then they turned and went away. Their road was cut off from the south forever.

A Bath in Bubbles.

"To take a bath at Tiflis, in Russian Caucasia, is to court a never to be forgotten experience," says one who knows. "The masseur who presides over the toilet of his patrons is a weird looking figure. His head is shaved, a rag is twisted around his waist, and his feet are dyed a beautiful red. You are seized by this individual, rubbed, pushed face downward on a marble slab, find his feet in your spine and his hands upon your shoulders. Then he grinds his feet up and down your back. They are round your neck, on your head—everywhere! Then he vaults lightly off, and in a moment, from a linen bag filled with soap, he has squeezed clouds of perfumed bubbles, and you are hidden in them from head to foot as completely as if you had fallen into a snowdrift. You are not absolutely bruised, but you are clean."—Kansas City Journal.

Wonders of the Eye.

Viewed as an optical instrument, the human eye may well be called perfect, for it is an apparatus contained in a globe less than an inch in diameter, in which is produced an image practically perfect in form and color and which can be accurately adjusted almost instantly for every distance from five inches to infinity, which is movable in every direction, has an area small enough for the detection of the most minute details and at the same time large enough for the appreciation of large objects, and which enables us to see all shades of color and to estimate distance, solidity, and, to some extent, the consistency of objects, and yet this wonderful instrument, perhaps the most varied in its capabilities of any part of the body, is persistently misused and neglected. Is it any wonder that some day nature resents this treatment and leaves the offenders in total and perpetual blindness?

A STORY OF WEBSTER

ONE OCCASION WHEN DANIEL WAS DEEPLY HUMILIATED.

An Incident Which Shocked and Surprised Him Into Tears—The Admiration, the Loyalty and the Generosity of His Circle of Friends.

The following incident in the life of Daniel Webster was related to the writer by the late Joshua Seward:

Mr. Seward came to Woburn from Boston in the early seventies and bought a farm, where he lived until his death in 1885. He was a native of the New Hampshire "Peace City," from which place he came to Boston in early manhood and later engaged in the livery business off School street. He was a genial, social, active young man, and in a short time many of the business and professional men of the city were his friends and patrons. Daniel Webster, then in the fullness of his masterly manhood, was his particular friend and most favored patron. One year Webster early engaged to deliver the Fourth of July oration in the city.

A public procession was then an important feature of the celebration, and the orator of the day was the chief person of distinction in the parade. In those days there were no four wheeled vehicles for convenience or for pleasure. A chaise was the proper carriage for gentlemen to use. Webster was popular and proud as popular. He saw no chaise in the city as good as he desired to appear in on that important occasion, and therefore he ordered one to be built by the principal carriage maker of the city (Sargent, I think it was), to be ready for use on that day. In the morning of the Fourth he appeared at Seward's stable office and requested Seward to go to the carriage shop and get the chaise he had ordered. Seward harnessed a horse and went to the carriage shop as directed and told the proprietor he had come for Mr. Webster's chaise. The proprietor in firm and measured tones that could not be misunderstood asked, "Did Mr. Webster send the money to pay for the chaise?"

In relating this to me Seward said: "I was never so astonished in my life! I should have been less surprised if he had raised his fist and knocked me down. I had no thought that there was a man living who had ever heard of the great Webster, the godlike Daniel, who would or who could have denied him any request it was possible to grant. I could only say, 'He sent no money by me.' 'Then,' said the proprietor, 'tell him he can have the chaise when he sends the money to pay for it and not till then.'" Seward said he was never in such a dilemma in all his life. He could not go back and tell that great man, whom he adored, that he could not have the chaise till he paid for it. And yet he must go back and tell him something. But what could he tell him? Finally, after much thought and study it occurred to him that he had a new chaise which he would offer to Webster and tell him that the varnish on the one he had ordered was not yet hard and that it would be liable to injure if taken out in the heat and dust of that public day. Webster met Seward at the door when he returned, and before Webster could ask a question Seward was telling him the story he had invented on the way home. Webster made no reply, but accepted Seward's statement as true and rode in his chaise that day.

About a week later Webster came again and said to Seward, "I think the varnish on that chaise is hard now, and you may go down and get it." Seward said: "With a heavy heart I harnessed a horse and went again to the shop. I knew I should not get the chaise, and I was not disappointed. In the same manner I was asked the same question as before. I could not invent another story that would be credible and was therefore compelled to go back and tell him the truth." Webster was impatiently awaiting Seward's return, and when in hailing distance he called to Seward: "Where is the chaise? What is the trouble?" Seward approached him more closely and in tones so low that no one could overhear him replied, "He told me to tell you that you could have the chaise when you sent the money to pay for it and not till then." Webster stood silent an instant and then with voice trembling with emotion exclaimed, "My God, Joshua, did he say that?" and sank into a nearby chair and cried as would a deeply aggrieved child of six summers.

It is well known that Webster would incur debt, apparently with no thought that there were two parties to a contract, a creditor and a debtor, and that their moral obligations were coequal. Consequently his creditors so multiplied and his indebtedness so increased as to interfere with his political plans, if not, indeed, threaten his political future. At this time his friends came to his aid and, it is said, raised the sum of $40,000 to cancel his indebtedness and relieve him from the further annoyance and pressure of his creditors. When we realize that $40,000 was a larger sum to raise then for any purpose than would be $200,000 today we have some measure of the admiration and the loyalty of his friends.—H. C. Hall in Boston Transcript.

Just So.

"I thought you said you couldn't live without me," sneered the girl.

"So I did," answered the man.

"Yet you're living."

"No; I'm not. Just boarding; that's all."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

John Hunter, the famous anatomist, once said that the feminine love of conversation was a consequence of a peculiarity in brain tissue.

LEGAL PHRASEOLOGY.

What Some of the Terms Common to Court Practice Mean.

To most persons the phrase "This indenture witnesseth" is as much Greek as the other common phrase "Witness my hand and seal." Yet both are relics of a time when these legal forms carried with them a significance not obtaining at present.

Legal documents were once engrossed upon parchment because paper cost so much more than dressed skin. The parchment was seldom trimmed exactly and the top was scalloped with the knife; hence the term "This indenture." Even where the lawyers have departed from the custom, still obtaining in England, of using parchment for their legal forms the phrase has been retained.

In the same way the signature of "hand and seal" is a relic of those olden times when only clerks and the clergy could wield the pen. It was the custom for the contracting parties to lay their hands upon the document in token of good faith, and there remained a smudge. As these original thumb marks were not easily identified, the gentry added their seals for the purpose of further establishing the validity of the document. It may not be generally known that a seal is still required in law, though the need for it passed with the spread of education, and the bit of red paper affixed by the lawyer is as necessary as the signature to certain documents.

A court of law is a reminiscence of the time when justice sat in the open courtyard, and the "dock" is from a German word meaning a receptacle while the "bar" is a Welsh word meaning a branch of a tree used to separate the lords of justice from their vassals.

The entire phraseology of the bench is reminiscent of the earlier days, but having been proved proper, has been retained.—New York Herald.

JAPANESE PAGODAS.

Earthquake Proof and Able to Stand the Severest Shock.

The absence of buildings of any size and antiquity in Japan is ascribed to the destruction of them by the frequent earthquakes which occur. The only structures which seem to be earthquake proof are the pagodas which are erected before the temples. There are many pagodas which are 700 or 800 years old and as solid as when first built. There is a reason for this, and it lies in their construction. A pagoda is practically a framework of heavy timbers which starts from a wide base and is in itself a substantial structure, but it is rendered still more stable by a peculiar device. Inside the framework and suspended from the apex is a long, heavy balk of timber two feet thick or more. This hangs from one end, and to the other end are bolted at each of the four sides four more heavy timbers, and if the pagoda be very lofty still more timbers are added or to these. The whole forms an enormous pendulum which reaches to within six inches of the ground. When the shock of an earthquake rocks the pagoda the pendulum swings in unison and keeps the center of gravity always at the base of the framework. Consequently the equilibrium of the pagoda is never disturbed, and this is the explanation of the great age of many of them, when from their height one would suppose them to be peculiarly susceptible to the effect of an earthquake.

Baffled.

The word baffled now has a meaning entirely different from that applied to it 300 years ago. It is now understood to mean thwarted, foiled or disappointed, but then it was applied to the process of degradation by which a knight was disgraced. A baffled knight was one who had been pronounced guilty of conduct unbecoming one of his order and had accordingly been shorn of his plumes, his sword was broken before his eyes, his knightly robe torn away, his spurs cut off with a cleaver, and after being publicly chastised he was declared to be baffled. The word is used in this sense by Shakespeare and other writers of that time.

About Breathing.

In the ordinary respiration of man sixteen or seventeen cubic inches of atmospheric air pass into the lungs twenty times a minute, or a cubic foot every five and one-quarter minutes, 274 cubic feet in twenty-four hours. The lungs hold 2.80 cubic feet. At each respiration 1.375 of oxygen is converted into carbonic acid gas. The nitrogen inspired and expired is exactly equal. During the act of inspiration the lungs have been found to be the coldest parts of the body.

The Point of View.

"It all depends on the point of view," he said reflectively.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Well, by way of illustration," he answered, "there's Mrs. Jones next door, who sings all day long. Looking at it from one point of view, we say, 'Happy woman!' and from another, 'Unhappy neighbors!'"

UKIAH, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1906.

Democracy's Standard Bearers

At the head of the Democratic ticket will be found the tall Redwood of Mendocino—John C. Ruddock, who is the nominee for the assembly. Mr. Ruddick has been a resident of this county ever since the 70's and has the ability to make a splendid representative in the halls of legislation. It would be a difficult matter to find a better man for the place in the whole county. Fitted by education and experience he would reflect credit upon the county and the people who sent him there. Not one thing can be said against him for this office.

For sheriff the Deomcrats have nominated that splendid young man Emmet Donohoe. No where in the county could a more capable man be found to fill this important office. Born and raised in the county he knows every trail in it and would make it hot for those who commit crime. Emmet Donohoe is just the man for the position and will receive the support of hundreds of Republicans who desire effective service to bossism in politics. Emmet is the right man in the right place and the people will see to it that he gets there.

For clerk the Democrats have nominated a young man of ability who has proved his worth in another office—James F. Barbee. If there ever was a good hustler and one especially fitted for this office it is Mr. Barbee. And the way he is bringing the old timers and the young men to his standard is a marvel to the politicians. He is already placed in the column of the sure winners, still he is leaving no stone unturned. He made the best school superintendent the county ever had, and hundreds of young men are going to see that he is promoted to the clerkship.

Robert Duncan for district attorney is the strongest man that has ever been presented to the taxpayers of the county. His administration has been the best in the state. In the last four years he has tried thirty-eight felony cases and succeeded in securing thirty-six convictions. Not to reelect Bob Duncan again would be a travesty on justice. His name as district attorney will deter the criminal from committing crimes in this county, and thus lessen the burden of taxation. Everybody that wants to uphold the law should give hearty support to Bob Duncan.

"Honest Dan" Gibson is the regular Democratic nominee for treasurer, and it would be an impossibility to name a more competent man for the place. He was treasurer for four years once before and the office was always in the best of condition. Every dollar was always accounted for when Dan Gibson had charge of the strong box. Where there is so much at stake it would be the part of wisdom for the taxpayers to hold on to Honest Dan. He is the present sheriff and is attending to his duties well.

The taxpayers friend, Ed Wright, is again the Democratic nominee for tax collector. He was elected four years ago by 658 majority, receiving 38 more votes than any other candidate running that had an opponent. He is much stronger this year than he was then, because he has made good by making the best tax collector the county ever had. During his term he has collected over a million dollars and there has not been a discrepancy of even a cent piece. This is one of the most important offices in the county and the taxpayers are going to see that Ed Wright is again put in this position by an increased majority.

The Democrats could not have nominated a better man for recorder than the man they named—Jas. H. Carothers He is a splendid penman and knows how to do the work of the office. He, like the other candidates, is well acquainted and has the confidence of the people in every precinct of the county. If fealty for party deserves recognition surely Jim Carthers should be elected. He is accommodating and is just the man for this position and will run like a scared wolf. He has occupied offices of trust and has always been true to the trust, consequently can be relied upon to do his duty.

For assessor the old Democratic war horse, M. A. Thomas, has again been named. This is an office that requires much executive ability and sound judgment. Surley Mike Thomas is the man to fill the bill. He has performed this duty for eight years to the satisfaction of all concerned. He has a just idea of the value of property and will continue to do the work in an impartial manner. He readjusted the assessments during his term and can continue the work better than a stranger.

Prof. L. W. Babcock, the father of our educational system, is the Democratic nominee for superintendent of schools. No better man in the state could have been named for the position. He will crown his labors in the school room by bringing our educational system up to the high standard he has the Ukiah schools. So eminently qualified was he that the opposition party could find no one to run against him and endorsed him for the place. This was certainly a grand tribute to the man, and the Republican party can be complimented upon doing at least one good thing, that of endorsing Prof. Babcock.

J. A. Joyce, of Willits, is the choice of the Democracy for auditor, the place so ably filled by Mr. Caughey. This office is strictly one of bookkeeping and no one in the county is better qualified to take the position than James A. Joyce. Born on the coast and having taught school successfully for a number of years in the valleys and on the coast he is a very strong candidate and will be elected by an overwhelming majority. He has been a success at every thing he ever undertook and will be a successful bookkeeper for the county.

The Democrats have shown the young men of the county that they do not have to be a half century old in order to get recognition, by nominating Guy Redwine for surveyor. He lives in Round valley and is a splendid young man. He is a graduate of the Ukiah high school and has much experience in the field. He will certainly do his duty well as he has always done everything else he ever undertook to do. The yuong men of the county are going to flock to Guy's support and give him a rousing majority.

For coroner and public administrator John Taylor again fills the bill on the Democratic ticket. For eight years Uncle John Taylor, as he is familiarly known, has looked after the estates of the decendents with the same care he would one of his own children. No better man could be found in the broad confines of the state than he. When a man fills such a position with the same care and honesty as does Uncle John he should be kept there as long as he lives.

The office of supervisor is one of the most important in the county. For these positions the Democrats have named W. T. Saxon in the Third district and John Inman in the Fifth district. Both are good sound business men and will conduct the business of the county with the same care that they would their own affairs. That is the kind of people that the taxpayers want in this position. If these gentlemen are selected by the voters, San Francisco bridge builders will not be allowed to loot the county strong box. They are good men for the office and will attend to the duties if elected. They are not carpet baggers and will look out for the interest of the taxpayers. From reports at hand both will be elected by large majorities.

THE FARMER AND THE STAND PATTER

The farmers can hardly approve the Republican stand pat program, when they find the price of wheat, oats, corn, and cotton declining and the cost of all they buy rapidly advancing. Where does the boasted protection to agriculture come in under the present protective tariff and how are farmers protected, although the tariff law provides that twenty-five cents a bushel on wheat and fifteen cents bushel on oats be collected on imports? The price of wheat is now lower than it has been for ten years or since the present tariff law was enacted in August 1897.

Those farmers, who are Republicans, should demand of their "stand pat" leaders a fair deal, and if the Agricultural machinery trust, the barbed wire combine, the lumber association and the clothing trusts, are to still be protected by the tariff in charging exorbitant prices for their products, that some method of raising the price of cereals and keeping them stable should offset trust high prices.

The fact is, however, that no tariff can protect the farmer on his products, of which the surplus must be sold abroad, as the price paid by the foreigners for that surplus fixes the price here. The only relief the farmer can receive is to be able to buy in the cheapest market and this he can never do as long as the trust, that control all he buys, are protected by the tariff from competition. It is plain therefore that the farmer who votes for a Republican congressman and for Republican candidates for the legislature, who in turn will elect Republican senators, is voting to continue the protection to the trusts and for high prices, with no protection to help the price of his own products.

GEARY FOR GOVERNOR

From all parts of northern California the Democrats are rallying to the standard of Thomas J. Geary for the Governorship. Already Mendocino and Humboldt have declared for him and of course Marin and Sonoma will fall in line. The old First and the present Second congressional districts will be almost a unit for Geary, which means over 200 votes to start with, a very potent factor in the convention.

If the Democracy wants to make success sure they should nominate Geary. The people of this state know him. Men of all political faiths that earn their living by the sweat of their brows will be found in the ranks for Geary. All elements of the party can give cordial support to him, therefore nominate the idol of the laboring men and bring back to the party this vital element that has drifted away.

CONTRAST IS PAINFUL

From all over the county come pleasing reports of the contrast between the two conventions recently held in the county. The Democratic convention was representive of the people and the candidates nominated thein will receive hearty support at the polls. The Republican convention was not of the people of that party, but simply reflects the wishes of a few bosses. If the people want good effective service the Democratic nominees are the people to give it. Put down bossism by defeating the "boss" candidates set up by the Republican bosses.

There is not a word that can be said against a single nominee on the Democratic ticket this year. Every one that has been in office before is entitled to reelection. The new men on the ticket are a tower of strength and are capable of filling the office to which they aspire. Vote for them.

PROTEST AVAILED NOTHING

In spite of the protest of organized labor and in the face of the promise given to Saumel Gompers, president of the Fedration of Labor, by Chairman Shonts, President Roosevelt today, after an hour's conference with the Panama Commissioner, authorized the employment of Chinese coolie labor. Here are the exact words of the President to Chairman Shonts:

"Go ahead and employ whoever you want to, so long as you keep within the law. All I want is results."

After his interview with the President, Shonts said that he would immediately invite proposals for 2,500 Chinese coolies. These men are to be supplied by contract and are to be picked from the rice fields of southern China.

The news from all over the county indicates that the Democratic ticket is growing in favor as the campaign progresses. The opposition will have to admit that the Democrats have up the best, most popular, and most efficient men, and the taxpayers are not going to experiment by putting in office a lot of men who owe their allegiance to a political boss. The Democratic nominees are free from bossism and can be approached without a letter of introduction from some little country boss. If you vote for the "boss" ticket you will have to have some boss intercede for you after the election.

The campaign slogan of the Republican party this year is "stand pat" and pass the hat," which means "stand and let the trusts plunder us while we contribute to the crime," will not meet a very hearty response from the over burdened tax payer. A goodly number of Republican statesmen will be out of a job after November.

It is stated that some of the "boss" candidates are very much discouraged since they got out among the people and heard the mutterings from the rank and file against the work of the bosses as exemplified in the recent Republican convention.

BARBEE STIRS UP WILLITS VOTERS

Willits, Cal. August 15—Editor Dispatch—A little politics was doing here a few days ago when Hale McCowen and Jim Barbee hit the town together. It was a pretty fight. Hale used to get a big vote here but he looked a little down in the mouth as the "old stand-bys" of his told him that they would have to give a young man a chance, that they thought that twenty years was long enough in one office. Barbee showed himself to be a hustler and saw two men to his opponent's one. Barbee was raised here and is very strong. The percentage is now in Barbee's favor.

Why should we not give Barbee a chance? He has educated our children and deserves promotion. His opponent has been in the clerk's office for twenty years and drawn about $50,000 and is wealthy. Let Barbee have it a while and then may be he can send his children away to the university. Pass these things around. No one can question the fact that Barbee is competent, more active and would make a better clerk. Let us train up a few of our deserving young men. Some of the professional office seekers might die off and we ought to have one or two young men on hand to take their places. Justice.

The Primary Elections

Last Tuesday primaries were held throughout the state in every county that is under the primary law. The greatest interest centered in San Francisco where Ruef controls. The wily little boss had everything his own way and succeeded in carrying seventeen out of eighteen assembly districts, and will therefore dominate the Republican convention which meets in Santa Cruz on September 4th to name a state ticket. From indications at present Gillett, who is the railroad candidate for governor, will get the nomination over George C. Pardee, the present governor. It looks good for F. L. Caughey, who is after the clerkship of the supreme court. There was little interest in the Democratic primaries in the city as most of the Democrats were sufferers from the fire and lost their votes, as they could not register from their vacant lots. The Democratic aspirants are T. J. Geary, W. H. Alford, Nathan Cole, and Senator Marshall Diggs.

Better Taxation System

The preliminary report of the committee on revenue and taxation is now out and a great many reforms are recommended divorcing state from county taxation.

After pointing out that under the old system, which is antiquated and full of inequalities, the farmers pay 10 per cent of their gross revenue into the tax fund, and the manufacturers pay only 2 per cent and personal property pays comparatively little; money and credits escape taxation almost entirely; national banks pay no taxes at all; the best efforts at equalization leave glaring inequalities; it is impossible to adjust the burden of taxation equitably between different classes of corporations and the system is a "school for perjury," the commission recommends the separation of state from local taxation as to sources of revenue; that the state shall collect its revenues from sources other than a direct levy on real and personal property of individuals, leaving to the counties and cities the exclusive right to tax such property for local purposes.

This will take the burden of direct taxation off real estate, and save the owners of real estate over $3,000,000 annually. It will establish at once home rule in matters of local taxation, and abolish any necessity for equalization between counties, while it will cure the evils state equalization fails to reach.

The property belonging to the subjects selected for state taxation shall, so far as it is reached by the state, whether through its earnings or directly, be exempt from local taxation.

Under the proposed new system the state would derive its revenues from the following sources:

"a. Old sources continued.—The per tax, the inheritance tax, the tax on insurance premiums, the annual franchise tax on corporations (modified and made proportional), all fees now collected, all collections by state institutions (some of which may be increased,) all earnings of state proprety and investments, the revenue from state lands.

"N. B.—The right to levy on general property should not be surrendered, but should be resorted to only to make good a deficit;

"b. New sources.—(1) A gross earnings tax on railroads, express companies, car companies, light, heat and power companies, at rates fixed for a period of ten years."

"The proposed laws," said Governor Pardee recently, "will call for the divorce of state and county taxation, and will result in a saving to each county of from 8 to 49 cents on every $100 in assessed valuation. Four counties are excepted, but their increase will be slight.

"It is quite plain to us of the commission that we can secure state revenues without touching realty, leaving the entire income from that source to the cities and counties."

Republican Central Committee

The following new central comittee was selected by the Republican convention:

At large—J. C. Halliday, Point Arena; M. A. Gilkison, Elk; Geo. A. Jarvis, Mendocino; R. B. Funk, Cleone; Frank H. Ward, Christine; L. E. Crawford, Largo; J. L. McNab, Ukiah; Fred Waugh, Talmage; Geo. H. Rhodes, Ukiah; T. W. Cox. Talmage.

First district—S. E. Brooks, J. W. Harris, Fred Hibberd, J. J. Smalley, J. L. Prather.

Second district—J. R. Elder, T. A. Lucas, J. D. Brower, F. O. Strong, Carl Ganter.

Third district—J. Liftchild, Ed Gibson, P. I. Lancaster, A. J. Haun, A. J. Fairbanks.

Fourth district—F. W. Beach, H. J. Burwash, Harry Mulson, Thos. Bourns, A. A. Lord.

Fifth district—J. H. Borden, J. D. Ball, W. T. Mahlman, John Dougherty, M. S. Scott.

The committee organized immediately after the convention adjourned by electing John L. McNab chairman and James R. Elder secretary.

Judges Others By Himself

The Times insinuates that Superintendent Barbee is out visiting schools and chasing the elusive voter at the same time. And that he will charge up his traveling expenses to the county. Because Mr. Rhodes did this while he was in that office he thinks every one else will do the same. Mr. Barbee, however, is an honest man.
